

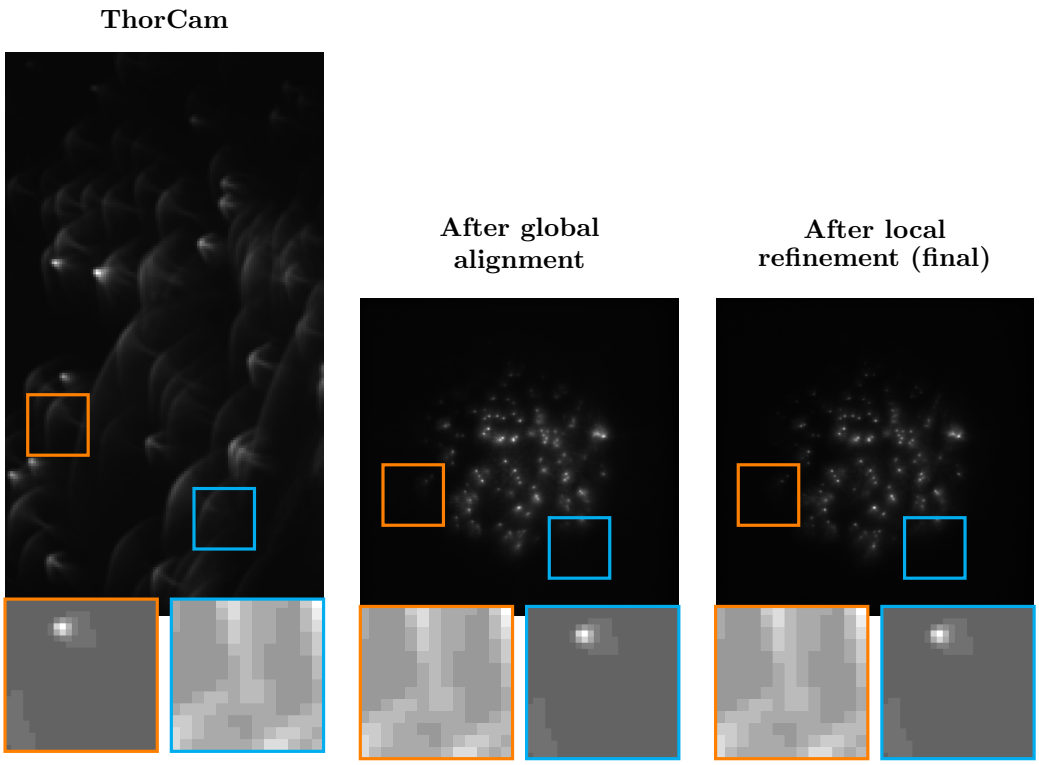

Figure 1: Illustrative layout of a ThorCam panel and two successive outputs of one global-then-local rectification run: the intermediate average after global alignment and the final image after local refinement. The bottom row shows corresponding zoom regions. This example is a layout demonstration, not qualified result evidence.