

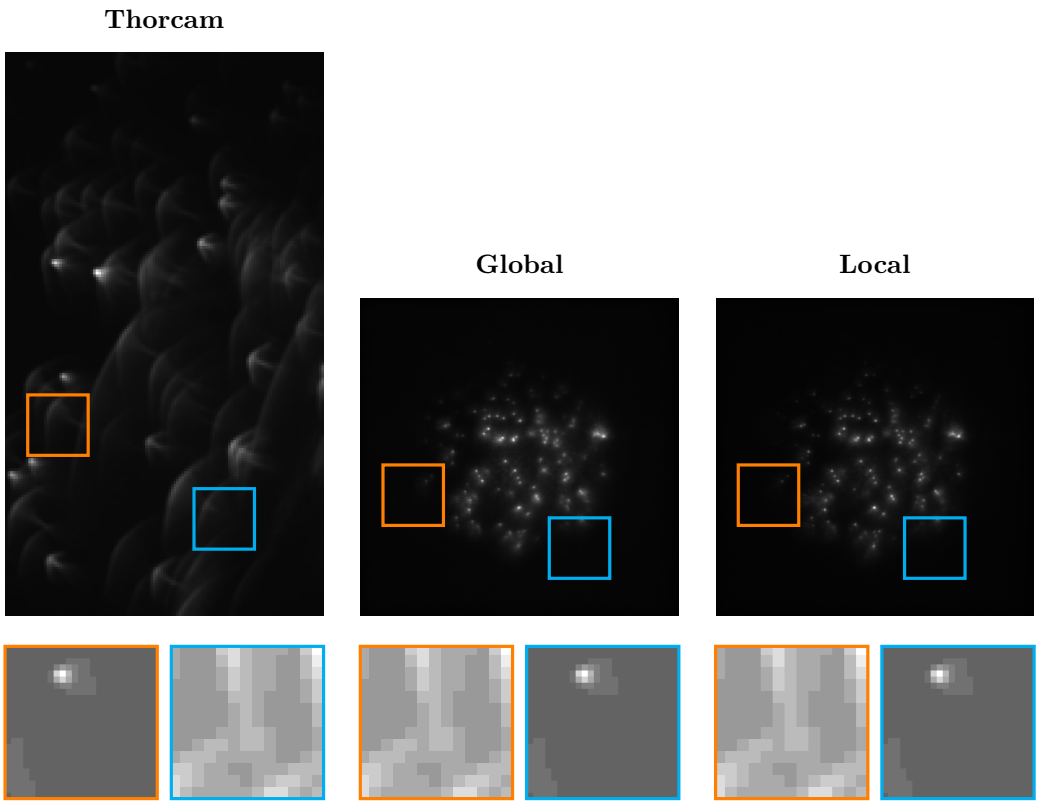

Figure 1: Comparison of reconstruction methods. The top row displays the full field of view for the ground truth (Thorcam), global correction, and local correction. The bottom row highlights zoomed-in regions of interest, illustrating differences in high-frequency detail preservation.